

THE GRAMMAR OF STATION ENVIRONMENTS

17-18 October 2013

Lieve De Cock
Urban Development Director, Euro Immo Star, Belgium
Session 4-B "Stations connected with the city"

For some it's moving on.
For others it's coming home.
For many it's meeting people.

It's a destination for all.
That's why I love my station.

Vision

A station is more than an intermodal node in a transport network.

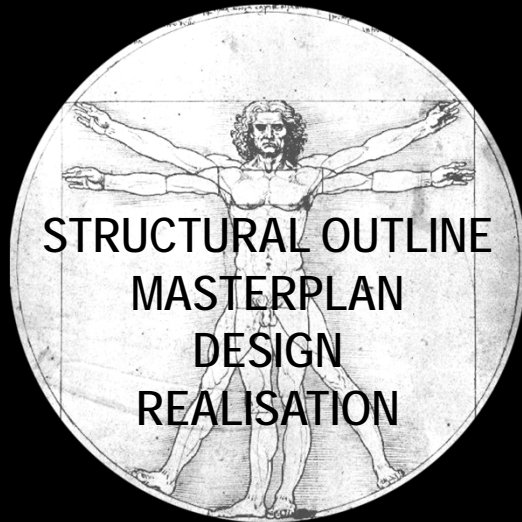

It is a vital element of the city, a dynamic meeting place where various people and activities coincide.

Integrated approach

The focus is set from the start on the effective realization of the plan.

A master cook stands out by understanding his ingredients fully and leaves the taster speechless by creating a balanced dish.

Attempts made by the table guests to analyze the culinary creation result at most in a simple list of ingredients.

The magic is beyond comprehension.

This is also the case in railway stations. Especially since a station and its surroundings are not made by a master cook, but by an entire community!

...Thank you

for your kind attention
